Lorraine Luker named "Woman of the Year" honored by Monterey Quota Club tonight

Mrs. Edward Luker of Carmel Valley is the guest of honor at tonight's dinner meeting of the Quota Club of Monterey-Pacific Grove. Named as "Woman of the Year" by this organization, Mrs. Luker (Lorraine) has been director of Family Service in Monterey since 1946.

Mrs. Luker came to the Peninsula in 1945 as Field Director for the American Red Cross at Fort Ord Hospital. She was asked to take over the Family Service Agency when it was a baby, only a year old. The agency is supported mainly by the Community Chest, although MPVS has given extensive support and there is a nominal charge for help to those who can afford it.

Last year, Mrs. Luker said, the Agency gave aid to 450 families in areas ranging from marital problems to parent-child emotional situations. A great deal is done in group therapy and about 900 persons were included in the year's work.

Mrs. Luker's work is carried on with a staff of 5 1/2 people, two psychiatric case workers and a receptionist and half time secretary. But it is essentially a day and night operation, she said, particularly around the holidays when families in need of help don't keep office hours.

Mrs. Luker's background has been in social work, even since the depression days when she had a $75 a month job as a county social worker in Minnesota. This was after she finished graduate work at U. of M. and she recalls that the $75 bought her more at that time than high present day salaries seem to.

When the war started, she left county work and became a trouble-shooter for the Red Cross, working military hospitals on the west coast.

Mrs. Luker and her husband, Edward, met while she was still at Fort Ord in 1946. He, an interior decorator, came to re-do the lounge at the hospital. They were married a year later and lived in Carmel until 1950 when they bought their home in La Rancheria.

Although Mrs. Luker, who grew up in the mid-west, loved the ocean, they decided to settle for oaks and view when they found their secluded house in Carmel Valley.

"I feel there are others on the Peninsula who deserve this honor of 'Woman of the Year' much more than I," Mrs. Luker commented to The Outlook. "I suppose it's because I've been around so long and served on so many boards that everyone knows me. But I'll be happy when it's over. Then maybe I can sit back and enjoy the honor."

C of C chooses directors, seeks community calendar

Carmel Valley Chamber of Commerce secretary Lori Swiss urged all organizations to contact her with dates and times of their major functions. The plea was made at last week's annual meeting of the Chamber and is needed to make a workable calendar to aid all groups in planning future activities. Lori has been trying to assemble this information during the past year, but has not met with great success, because no one bothers to send the data until the last minute. "Conflicts could be avoided if all groups cooperated with the Chamber on this activities calendar," Lori stated.

Purpose of the annual meeting, held at the Community Center, was to count the votes and announce new members of the Board of Directors.

Ten new directors were elected to serve with the hold-over board. Pres. Tom Hefling announced that the following had been elected from the slate of fifteen presented for choice:

Tom Bottaro, Tom Verga, R.A. Brinton, Will Fay, Bob Kvenild, Pat Swan, Luis Wolter, Mae Youngberg, Rex White and Lou McCreery.

The nominating committee will meet with the board to give recommendations for officers which must be elected by Nov. 23, according to the by-laws.

The hold-over board consists of Lou Gardner, Don McKenzie, Larry Cummings, Herb Brownell, Ken Van Hagen, Mrs. Les Jewett, Skip Marquard, Tom Hefling, Jim Dagelen, Mrs. Maury Nessell and Mrs. Joan Bennett.

Oregon's new governor-elect visits Valley

Carmel Valley was host to a distinguished visitor over the weekend when Oregon's governor-elect, Tom McCall, visited an old friend, Mike Sullivan. Accompanying Mr. McCall were his wife, Audrey, and their sons, Tad and Sam.

Sullivan and McCall have been friends since 1937 when Mike was attending U. of Idaho and Tom was sports editor of the local newspaper, the Moscow Review.

While speaking of the recent election where he got the greatest Republican vote in the history of Oregon, McCall related that he was elected to the governor's post just 50 years to the day since his grandfather, Samuel McCall, was elected governor of Massachusetts.

Mike plans to return his friend's visit on Jan. 9 when he will go to Salem for the inauguration.

'School Night for Scouting'

All boys eleven years of age or older who are interested in becoming Boy Scouts are invited to a School Night for Scouting in the Multipurpose room at Tularcitos. Parents are welcome and urged to attend the meeting on Thursday, Nov. 17 at 8 p.m.

Qualified Scout officials will be available to answer questions about the local Boy Scout program.

Application may be made at that time for membership in the Valley Scout Troop #127. Scoutmaster Bob Ray will show a film of this troop's trip to the High Sierras this past summer.

Silver work featured at church bazaar

Rev. Jim Brock of St. Dunstan's Church has announced that there will be something very special included in this year's Christmas Bazaar being held on Saturday.

"It is appropriate," he commented, "that a church named for a silversmith (St. Dunstan) should display silver pieces of religious jewelry at this holiday function."

Mr. James Avery, a close friend of Rev. Brock's and a former assistant art professor at U. of Colorado, will have his designs available for sale. Avery left university life to devote full time to the expression of his faith through silvercraft. For the holiday bazaar he has sent assorted religious medals, crosses, charms, handsome key chains and cufflinks in symbolic designs which are artistically tasteful as well as meaningful.

The Bazaar will be open at the church on Robinson Canyon Rd. from 9:30 to 3:30 on Saturday.

Ryan, banjo player and Al Ring, drummer, were more than happy to oblige the kids. Eighth grader John Duhning, sixth grader John Toldi and Tedde Hansen, seventh grader, waited for fifth grader Alison Fall (right front) who had a bus to catch. The assembly was a finale to the jazz portion of music appreciation class.

Members of CV Fidelity Club enjoyed what they termed a "rare music frosting" at their monthly dinner program recently. Emil Hansen, president of the group, introduced Nancy Ness Bowman, and her group of talented operatic vocalists to a most appreciative audience.

Those who entertained the club were Nina Russo, Susan Chan, Lucy Bowman, Beverly Broome, Susan Scott, Jerry Winter and Joe Messieno. Selections ranged from a group rendition of the "Church Chorus" from Cavalleria Rusticana to solos by members of the chorus.

Pres. Hansen noted that although members of the Fidelity Club were limited to those over fifty, it was fortunate that this rule did not apply to their en-

Off to Mexico on a 5-week holiday trip by bus are Mr. and Mrs. John Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Henry, Mrs. Stephen Langmaid, Mrs. Armin Hansen, Miss Charlotte McCulloch and Mrs. Elmer Breckenfeld. All are Carmel Valley Manorites.

Over one hundred costumed guests recently attended a masquerade gala titled, "Chez Transylvania," at "Far Fa-lince," the Carmel home of Tularcitos teacher, Gary Lothe.

The Spanish-style residence was decorated in a haunted house theme. Fabric cobwebs sparkled with glitter throughout the house. Devil masks, created by art teacher Bob Skiles, provided indirect lighting under which the group danced.

One of the featured entertainments was a ghost gambol through the garden festooned with lanterns, spooks, and goblins, designed by Miss Regina Duggan.

Midway in the festivities a scavenger hunt commenced. The prizes of imported champagne were awarded to the captains of the 2 leading teams—Mr. George Minor, and Mr. William Allen Matthewson.

Refreshments were provided by Mrs. Marcia Brown, Miss Patricia Schultz, Mr. Warren Fishburn, Miss Enid Palmerlee, Mr. Phillip Smith and Miss Darby Mass.

Special entertainment featured a medley of folk songs by Mrs. Lisa Buchenroth, and a violin solo by Miss Sharon Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cron who are vacationing and investigating retirement possibilities in Mexico are currently staying in one of my favorite towns. Located about thirteen miles from Paricutin, the volcano that erupted in the cornfield, the city of Uruapan is located at about 5,000 feet and has a most ideal climate, supplying luscious fruits for the palate and flowers for the eyes. The Cron's have found a small house in a walled garden where they are staying for the next three months, while taking side trips to explore other parts of the country.

News from Hacienda Carmel

Hal C. Wright aced number 17 at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club recently. He used a number 4 wood for the 160 yard shot to join the hole-in-one club. Members of the foursome witnessing the feat were Frank Baker, John Otterson and George Salter.

Wright said it's his first hole-in-one in 44 years of golf.

Members of the Activities Board met early this month to plan events for the months ahead. Mrs. Paul Heath chairmanned the meeting during which increased interest in arts, crafts, sewing and knitting was reported. Several Game and Gossip Rooms have been assigned to groups engaged in these activities to supplement the facilities of Casa Fiesta.

Don't forget the all day crafts show today in Casa Fiesta featuring the creative activities of Hacienda residents.

The Sing-Out Monterey group will entertain Hacienda Carmel residents and friends in Casa Fiesta on Nov. 19. Many who have heard this group of young people are confident that they will provide an inspiring evening of entertainment.

Harry C. McAuley, assistant state forest ranger, will be the speaker at tomorrow's meeting of the Casa Lobos Luncheon Club, a group activity enjoyed by most of the men at Hacienda Carmel. Mr. McAuley will discuss the state's interest in forests, fire, water, logging and conservation.

Vern Yadon, curator of the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History was introduced as guest speaker at the recent meeting of the Carmel Valley Garden Association. Mr. Yadon gave an informative discussion on "Native Plants, particularly those which grow in Carmel Valley."

Mr. Lynn Sims, vice president, who had charge of the meeting in the absence of club president, Mrs. Irving Ollason, conducted an election of officers. Mr. Irwin T. Johnson will serve as president. Lynn Sims was re-elected vice president, Miss Lucile Chambers, secretary, and Mrs. John Power, treasurer. Making up the board of directors are Mr. Emil Hansen, Mr. Sam Klemek, Mrs. Howard Swigart and Dr. Jacob Zarski.

New officers will be installed at the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 3 at the Community Center. The affair will be catered by the New Village Cafe. Mr. Salih Mehdy, in charge of the dinner party, asks that reservations be made before Nov. 25.

Cypress Swim Club rummage sale

"Something for Everyone," will again be the theme of the Cypress Swim Club's annual rummage sale to be held this year at the American Legion Hall on Dolores St. near 8th in Carmel, Saturday, Nov. 19 from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

One of the unusual items to be offered for sale is a Motorola stereo, hi-fi, four-speed phonograph.

All proceeds from the fundraising event will go toward transportation costs in connection with AAU championship meets for the award-winning girls' club.

Co-chairmen for this year's sale are Mrs. Margaret Selfridge and Del Neel, manager of the club. Rummage may still be contributed by calling Mrs. Selfridge at 372-5031, or Mr. Neel at 659-2446, or by contacting any member of the Cypress Swim Club, to arrange for pick-up.

Remodeled Dennis the Menace Park opens Saturday

Local youngsters will be delighted to hear that re-opening ceremonies will be held at Dennis the Menace Park this Saturday at 10 a.m. The park opened in Monterey just ten years ago this week, so it is quite fitting that the remodeling be completed in time for the 10th anniversary.

Among the new features at the park are a 60 ft. suspension bridge donated by the Monterey Rotary Club, a Maze given by the Monterey 20-30's and an 8' by 24' stainless steel slide donated by SCRAM. All the old favorites have been renovated and are just waiting for the kids.

Brief opening remarks will be given by Bill Houle, president of the Jaycees who sponsor and maintain the park, followed by introduction of guests and a few words by Mayor Minnie Coyle, then the park will be open for playing.

Hatton Canyon freeway

Adm. C.W. Fisher (USN-Ret.) is a one-man task force, battling the State Highway Commission. His target is the proposed freeway down Hatton Canyon to Carmel River, which is scheduled for construction by the state.

This is in spite of almost unanimous disapproval by official bodies on the Monterey Peninsula. Adm. Fisher has rallied opposition from city councils of six cities and personally appeared before the State Highway Commission on three different occasions.

Adm. Fisher also headed a delegation to Sacramento to express the determination of the area to defend itself from the unwanted destruction of Hatton Canyon. Still the Highway Commission seems determined to proceed—unless struck down by action of the State Legislature.

And so the fight is being carried into the Legislature, to overpower the almost omnipotent Highway Department and its disregard for the desires of local residents to preserve the area's beauty.

Assemblyman Alan Pattee has promised to shepherd the needed legislation through the Legislature. Sen. Don Grunsky has also promised his support.

Adm. Fisher is issuing a call for the concerned public to rally to the cause. This means backing up good intentions by writing legislators. It means the support through resolutions of organizations in the area is needed.

The State Highway Commission's blatant disregard for the wishes of the people it is supposed to serve needs slapping down. Freeways in Los Angeles and in many areas are a necessary evil. But not in this instance. For the streams of traffic, would be dumped at the mouth of Carmel Valley, whose main road is scheduled to remain as is for some years, or on State Highway 1, which below Carmel has been removed from the state highway freeway system.

Our faith restored

Last week's defeat of Proposition 16 was indeed a heartening occurrence. At a time of clean sweeps and massive vote reaction, Californians evidently really read and thought about the consequences underneath the good intentions.

Many a voter was heard to comment that pornography and smut should be effectively controlled, but not by turning the public into their brother's keepers.

Our faith in mankind has been strengthened. The voters of California came through...

Open burning — CV Road

EDITOR: Everybody in Carmel Valley please take note! Even though we've had a good rain, there has not been enough to allow open burning.

Summer fire rules are still in effect. We've gotten through the dry season without a major brush fire. Let's not have one now.

I'd also like to remind people again that the fire phone is for emergencies only, not for asking questions. Please use the business phone, 659-2021, after 8 o'clock in the morning. Don't wake the firemen up at 5 a.m. on the emergency phone to ask if you can burn. Thank you.

Chip Collins
Fire Chief

EDITOR: It's a great idea to resurface the Valley road, but it would be a better idea if they finished the edges instead of leaving a two inch drop to the shoulder.

The first aid crew scrapes enough people up off the road without having the added chance of someone losing control because of drifting off that edge.

And while they were working on the road, it seems they should have incorporated a turn lane for Via Mallorca to Hacienda Carmel while they were doing the other one.

The road would be a lot safer if some of the small hazards were taken care of.

Gregg Scherman

The Rhyming Philosopher

I care not what the Cause may be
That thinks alone of victory;
Nor that the strong have proved their might,
But only that the Cause was right.

Whatever backlash brought defeat,
One's bane to someone else is meat.
Whatever arguments you quote
Can't counteract the free man's vote.

And those who choose to disagree
With what by now is history,
Two years from now may vote again
Regardless how they feel by then.

So life goes on, and old wounds heal,
And time must in its course reveal
That human nature's free decrees
Proves wisdom of majorities.

Our way of life survives in this—
That in the last analysis
The more that vote and disagree,
The better for democracy.

In Short

Strange facts revealed at the PG&E dinner and briefing at Highlands Inn Monday night: undergrounding high tension wires is years away, because at present it would cost 50 times as much to put a 230,000 volt line underground as it does to carry it on steel towers. It will cost each Carmel Knolls home owner $435 to put electric wires underground plus about $80 for telephone wires, as under discussion at the moment there. Only 14% of the people in the U.S., according to a nation-wide survey, would go for paying higher electricity rates to finance undergrounding wires. And it will be a while before PG&E goes entirely underground, because it would cost some $3.5 billion, or three times the value of its entire system, to bury the whole thing...

Jeni Fosnot, senior at Carmel High School, sold her first painting the other day. Kay Scott, secretary of the Carmel Business Association, saw Jeni's small oil, entitled "Promised Peace," in an exhibit in the lobby of the CUSD central office. She liked the impressionistic abstract so much that she purchased it for her home.

The assignment had been done for William Stone's art class, although Jeni's mother, artist Jeanne Fosnot, is also an art teacher at Carmel High.

Debating between majoring in English or Art, Jeni is taking additional classes at MPC in ceramics and will either attend college there or at San Jose State next year.

A squaredance group is meeting every Wednesday at Carmel High School Cafeteria. Anyone who is interested is welcome to attend. Rounds are at 7:30 with square up at 8 p.m.

SKIN DIVING FOR GOLD in Sierra rivers takes a bit more than a tin pan, as this photo of Mrs. Stanley Roberts of Carmel Valley Rd. proves. The story in last week's Outlook about the Roberts' profitable sport showed Stan with a gold-panning pan, so here's a photo this week of the feminine half of the team, Rosemary Roberts, with the pump which operates the long suction tube for pumping gold-bearing sand into the attached sluice.

Before last week's election, Friar Tuck Bookstore in Carmel had a window display of books that could be attacked if Proposition 16 had gone through. Among them were works of Flaubert and Balzac, "An Analysis of Madame Bovary," "Human Physiology," "Sculpture," with NUDE statues, "A Guide to Mexico," and "Must You Conform." On election night owner Janel Powell started to prepare a new display in case the censoring proposition was approved. This would have consisted of technical works, statistical data, mathematics, etc. each in a blank cover with plain lettered titles...and a sign "Better Safe than Sorry!" Happily, she dumped the night's work into the waste basket when the public voted "No."

Post election talk—Don McKenzie was heard to say, "Who needed to stay up for election returns...all you had to do was get the tally from Tularcitos third grade." Reports from Carmel High, Middle School and the elementary schools which held mock elections confirmed the later statewide trends.

The F.C.C. has granted a permit for KMBY for a new UHF television station, operating on channel 46. The station will be located in Monterey with a transmitting tower on Mount Toro. Station officials hope to have it in operation next year.

That Carmel is the art center of the West coast is suggested by the fact that Les Laky of Laky Galleries is closing his San Francisco and Los Angeles galleries, to concentrate where the sales chiefly are, Carmel. "The problem is," he explained, "that potential buyers would come in to the big-city galleries, but then say, 'Let's wait until we visit Carmel before making a decision.'"

16 basketmen turn out for varsity squad

Sixteen turned out for the first day of basketball practice Tuesday for the Carmel High School varsity, Coach Jason Harbert announced.

Coach Dick Lawitzke of the junior varsity is expecting from 20 to 25 to turn out, and Roland Schut, coach of the new freshman team, is anticipating another 20 out for that division.

The "lightweight" team of former years has been substituted for a frosh team with no weight classifications.

Lone returning varsity letterman is Doug Adams, but Coach Harbert has hopes for a number of boys coming up from the lower divisions. Headed for the varsity are the following last year's JV team members: Terry Mosolf, Richard Oleson, Brian McElboyn, Gary Moore, Mark Johnson and Bill Hutchison.

Two transfers show varsity promise, Harbert said; they are Bob Littlefield from Sacramento and Mark Taylor from Ocean-side.

Boys coming up from last year's lightweights, who will probably be on the varsity, include Ron Parsons, Gary Newton and Chris Laiolo.

"It's much too early to hazard predictions," commented Coach Harbert, "but, of course, we'll aim at a higher spot than fourth in the league which we took last year."

Padre JV's first

Carmel Varsity 4th in MTA League

Carmel High varsity wound up 4th place in the league, after losing its "big game" Saturday to Pacific Grove 41-14.

The varsity won 3 games, lost 3 and tied 1. King City took first.

However, the Padre JVs took first in the MT league, winning 6, tying 1, and the frosh did well, too, winning 5, losing 2.

Moscow reconstruction continues today at the rate of 300 apartments a day

By GINNIE DREW

Everywhere one looks in Moscow the skyline is broken with the skeletons of building cranes. After the war, the city was faced with the need for large numbers of apartments and set about on a program of slum clearance and mass building. Pre-fab apartments were put up at the rate of hundreds a day, generally of minimal construction quality. Old frame buildings were torn down and replaced by five and six story block buildings.

I understand from persons who were in Moscow four or five years ago, modern apartment buildings contrasted sharply with the decrepit (but picturesque) frame buildings. Now one rarely sees the old run-down dwellings. Near the Ukraine Hotel where I stayed, one entire street is a "new street." All persons living on that thoroughfare were moved to new apartments elsewhere in the city, the old structures were demolished and new ones are being erected.

This is one of the first areas of renewal where I observed a variety of design or placement of buildings on the land. Usually, the apartments are straight, utilitarian blocks set in straight, utilitarian rows. These were L shaped buildings placed at different angles... non parallel. The construction in these new buildings also appeared of better quality. I asked one friend who had been living in this area how she felt about it.

She replied, "I didn't want to move, but the house was going to be torn down, so I had to. Now I'm finally getting used to traveling so much further to come to work."

The report in Moscow today is that 300 new apartments are completed each day. Even if one were to cut that figure in half for a more conservative estimate, it would still be an impressive 150.

Everywhere we went, however, we still saw the standard design form except in Estonia, where they were more creatively and decoratively designed.

A FISHERMAN and his wife, who works in the cannery, built their home on the Fish Cooperative's land near Tallinn, Estonia.

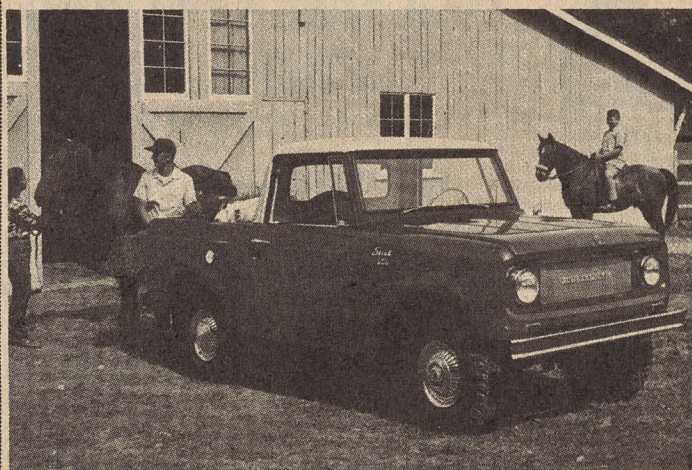

On the outskirts of the larger cities we saw numerous single family homes. In this case the land is still owned by the government but the individual builds and owns the home. The government will advance about 80% as a loan with payments made monthly on the balance. There were many areas within 15 miles of Moscow where home sites were offered "in the birch groves."

In Estonia there were a great number of private homes both old and new. Fishermen in the collective fish farms owned their own places with large plots of land around them. In the wooded areas outside Tallinn, there were numerous brick

Cole Weston will manage Sunset Center

Carmel's City Council approved the employment of Cole Weston as manager of Sunset Center, effective on Dec. 1. The recommendation was made to the Council by the Sunset Commission to develop and coordinate a program for the expanded use of the Center.

Weston, whose salary will be $674 per month, will also serve as stage manager at the Forest Theatre. Other responsibilities will include maintenance and repair, purchasing, budget control, publicity and promotion.

The ultimate goal of the Sunset Commission is to make Sunset Center self-supporting. Weston's salary will come from funds set aside for the Sunset feasibility study and monies for stage management.

TINA MILLER, senior at Carmel High, reigned as Homecoming Queen during festivities at the school on Nov. 5. Tina is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller of Pebble Beach.

Edward Norton show on view at Art Assn.

During the month of November the Carmel Art Association will feature a one man show of the latest works of Edward Norton Ward.

Ward has been a resident of the Monterey Peninsula since 1959, coming to this area from southern California. Since graduation from UCLA in 1952, he has been continually trying to capture the California scene on his canvas. He ranges from the fishing villages and farms of northern California to the barren eastern Sierra slopes searching for subjects.

Ward is a member of the Carmel Art Association and the Society of Western Artists.

Film classic party will benefit Montessori scholarship fund

A chance to win a work of art by sculptor Malcolm Moran, a watercolor by Renee Miller Alberts, an oil by Valerio Guisi or a drawing by Richard Rodriguiz, all local artists of note, will be given ticket-holders to the Hepburn-Grant comedy classic "Bringing up Baby" Friday night at the Carmel Art Association Gallery.

Champagne, punch and hors d'oeuvres will be served after the movie, which starts at 8 p.m. $3 admission charge will benefit Carmel's Montessori method Children's School scholarship fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodriguiz will act as host and hostess for the affair and their committee members are all Montessori parents.

Mrs. Glynn Lockwood of Carmel Valley is in charge of tickets which may be purchased from her or other parents, at the Thunderbird in the Valley, at the Gallery Friday night, or by phoning 624-6676. Ticket holders need not be present to win a prize.

Sanitary District

re-elects officers

Carmel Sanitary District unanimously re-elected all officers last week.

Continuing as president is Harold C. Arnot; Harry Hilbert is secretary and members of the board are James B. Pruitt, Willis Shepard, J. Wentworth Lewis and H.R. Fonseca. Shelburn Robison is legal counsel.

It was announced that the interim trunk sewer line extending 2 1/2 miles up Carmel Valley has been completed to service Del Mesa Carmel, Middle School and the new Community Church.

Bloodmobile date

The next bloodmobile visit to the Carmel Red Cross Chapter at Dolores and 7th will be on Thursday, Dec. 1. The hours have been extended and will be from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. Lunch will be served as usual to donors.

All previous donors are urged to mark their calendars. New donors are needed desperately because the need for blood is so great.

Film on Emile Norman previews Sat. at Sunset

A documentary film entitled "Emile Norman" will be previewed on Saturday, Nov. 19, at 8:30 in Sunset Auditorium. The entire proceeds of the showing will be donated to the Carmel Bach Festival by Norman and the producers.

The film in color will explore how the artist uses the unlimited inspiration he receives from nature. Scenes from his studio, his everyday life in the surroundings of Big Sur, his close association with nature, have been combined with visits to many collections, studying the wide variety of his work.

The picture was directed and edited by William Westwick and filmed by King Harrington. The two San Franciscans have recently formed their own production company after having been involved in the TV and motion picture industry. The Norman film is the company's first venture.

The musical sound track was performed by Angus Whyte using Norman's own instruments, a small baroque-type organ and a 203 year old Kirkman harpsichord.

Saturday's preview at Sunset is the premiere performance except for the San Francisco film festival. All seats are five dollars and tickets are available at the Bach Festival office at Sunset Center or by mail from P.O. Box 503.

Outlook Leisure Times

Few festival films will reach Peninsula viewers

By DONALD MINOR

Of the films shown at the recent San Francisco festival, most have as much chance of reaching Peninsula screens as Ho Chi Minh has of becoming Pope; two or three will make it here under the propulsion of publicity, and another two or three might be classified as doubtful.

A tasteful occupant of the first category is a film entitled "Stella Fara Nume." For those readers who happen not to understand Rumanian, this presumably translates as "The Nameless Star." Although the film is a tender and wistful romance which would be palatable to everyone from Bertha Aptheker to Robert Welch, and is expertly turned out by an evidently amicable group of French and Rumanian artists, among the latter being the considerable star, Claude Riche, the unhappy fact is that "Stella Fara Nume" has not had enough publicity to commend it for even speculative booking.

"Mata Hari" is another matter. There are enough moviegoers around who remember Garbo in the role of the Dutch Deceiver, and who might want to see how the smouldering Jeanne Moreau matches up, to justify a theater owner's at least considering it for booking. Whatever the commercial possibilities of this "Mata Hari" (which are far from negligible with the presence of the actress whom many consider to be the finest now working in films) they would be getting a film which is artistically ambivalent.

Director Jean-Louis Richard and his famous mentor, Francois Truffaut, evidently meshed smoothly to co-author a script which is both factual and inventive. But I suspect that some division of authority in the direction was responsible for the glaring confusion of melodramatic and camp-comic styles.

I would put the Russian "Hamlet" in a category by itself: because the production is Soviet, it is suspect, but, because the script is Shakespeare, it is simon pure. If the local theater owners are, therefore, in doubt as to what to do, let me resolve their indecision by stating flatly that this red "Hamlet" is a triumph of cultural empathy over political hostility. Scholastic purists will anticipate, correctly, that this Bolshevik treatment of the Bard will not be in the great tradition. It is, of course, in Russian, and missing are the familiar cadences which ring in the Anglo-Saxon mind. Though true to Shakespeare, the translation is by Pasternak (Boris, not Joe); scenes are cut, interchanged and elided. However, this Hamlet is pure film. It is a cinematic masterpiece of transcendent beauty. The visual opulence of the sets, fortified by the aural compliment of the Shostakovich score, overpowers reluctance to accept the unfamiliar language.

Most importantly, the acting is marvelous. Connoisseurs of the art will be fascinated, if not totally convinced, by Innokenti Smoktunovsky's straightforward rendering of the put-upon prince. He abjures Freud to delineate Hamlet as an avenger whose madness is both a method and a satirical response.

Think of it: John Barrymore, Richard Burton, Maurice Evans and — Innokenti Smoktunovsky!

Fantasy Players present 'Rumpelstiltskin'

THE WHITE OAKS THEATRE Fantasy Players are on tour this month with their production of "Rumpelstiltskin." The play is being presented at schools in Los Banos, Merced, Hanford, Lemoore, Turlock, Napa, Dos Palos, Weaver, and Romero, bringing theatre to many children for the first time. Rumpelstiltskin is played by Sandra Lundwall (seated). Others in the cast admire the gold which has been spun from straw. (Left to right) Queen Hordwella, Pat Lewis; Sir What's-His-Name, Michael S. Riordan; Prince Nervin, Maurice Bertino; Pettie Grindstone, Katie Russell; Gertrude Grindstone, Linda Boblitt.

An Outlo

Robert Hoge moved to the Valley 'for fun' - the

he started a new career

A man of many talents is Robert Hoge, whose bronze dolphin won first prize in traditional sculpture at this year's Monterey County Fair. Formerly a president of three companies, Hoge escaped from the demands of business by devoting his spare time for the past thirty years to art. Hoge is accomplished in sculpture, painting in watercolor and oils, lost wax casting in bronze, and ceramics. Now retired, he and his wife, Marjorie, who is a potter, moved to Carmel Valley "to have fun." Mrs. Hoge was also a Fair winner this year with two of her bowls holding first place flower arrangements.

Most of Hoge's bronzes, like his prize-winning dolphin, are sculpted in clay first and then cast in wax. By using the lost wax casting method he is able to eliminate the costly and weighty problem of sending his bronzes to a foundry for casting. He has been successfully using this method for the past ten years.

IN HIS TIDY STUDIO, still under construction, Robert Hoge has designed and built a kiln that is set below floor level. By remote switches it is controlled electrically. Blowers pull dust created by buffing and carving out of the studio to keep air pollution to a minimum. Hoge has used his electrical and engineering background to provide the utmost in efficiency and safety in his workshop.

Recently Hoge has been experimenting in cast stone. Using white Trinity cement as a binder, he has combined sand, silica flour and pumice stone with black chips of Belgian marble for texture and color. While no cast piece can be a substitute for the original, he feels they can stand on their own merits, just for what they are.

The Hoge's Valley house high up on El Caminito is tastefully hung with many watercolors and impressionistic oils. Over the fireplace is "a part of a painting" which originally was at Lahaina Gallery in Maui, Hawaii. The entire piece of abstract artwork was too large to transport. So Hoge, acting like the painter in that tongue-in-cheek short film, "A Day in the Life of an Artist," cut up the painting and brought back his favorite section.

Well over two hundred pieces are stored on display as part of the everyday decor at the Hoge home, with the items being changed to keep a continually varied exhibit of a versatile artist.

It is not easy to air a problem like ours, especially when you're eight years old and so many good things are happening to you. Because you see we ARE in new buildings on a beautiful acreage less than thirty minutes away from most everyone in Monterey County...we HAVE just broken all box office records with our last two productions closing our most successful summer season...and we ARE booked into schools all across the State with a delightful production by our touring company, which has brought live theatre to more than 9,000 children in 1965 and 15,000 in 1966.

So - What's the Problem? Just this: We've grown bigger and better in an exciting venture that's UNIQUE and WORTHWHILE--both educationally and culturally--and we can't turn back. So far this year, $28,000 has been raised toward our goal.

That's a Problem? Yes! Several important foundations want to help us because we ARE unique and worthwhile. But they cannot until we can demonstrate that we have "solid community support"--and not just at the box office. (Actually, few people realize that box office receipts pay less than half the expenses of this unusual kind of theatre, since scholarships, touring shows, concerts and lectures, and even opera, are such an integral part of total community service.)

It All Adds Up to "Crisis." We are short $35,000 of the goal necessary to place us in a position to apply for foundation support--support we desperately need if we are to continue. Without your contribution, large or small, it looks like we will be turning out the lights and closing our doors by the end of this year.

It Really Boils Down to This! We hear a lot of talk nowadays about "saving culture." Well, here's our chance. There's quite a hunk of it right here on our doorstep. We stand to lose it--all of us--for the want of $35,000. That's not much if you think about what it is buying. Drive out and we'll show you. If you were in our audiences last summer, you know.

Talk about making money stretch, consider this: Your gift is worth much more than it costs. First, it helps bring us foundation money that benefits you and eventually your business. Second, your gift is completely tax-deductible (both Federal and State), since we are recognized as a non-profit, tax-exempt educational institution.

Think about it!

THEN--while you have it in mind--send us your check...now, while we need it (P.O. Box 515, Carmel Valley). You'll get it all back...ten-fold...in many ways.

Under the oaks and among the cacti

By Mildred Hattan

An "old oak leaf cluster" to Mrs. Thomas McKiernon and her hardworking crew of telephone committee members who called Valley residents to remind former donors of their date at the Blood Bank and to contact new people wishing to donate. Members of the telephone committee were: Mmes. John Bauer, George Clifford, Robert Porter, Clyde Lucas, C.E. Dickinson, James Sands, A.L. Friedenthal, G.M. Katzman, Vera Stokes, George Eastman, Leo Berta, John Woods and the Misses Florence Nedeff and Helen Tomsen.

Mums of yellow and orange in saki bottles adorned the six tables at the October Bridge and canasta party held last week at the La Rancheria home of Mrs. Elbert Wade. Pumpkin pie, Halloween napkins and tallies helped to carry out the Fall theme set by Mrs. Wade and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Fred Clark and Mrs. Joseph Blacow. Winners of the benefit party sponsored by the CV Community Chape Guild were first and second in bridge to Billie Mans and Mrs. Tom Henderson. Mrs. Peter De Haas won the prize for the canasta. This was the last of the popular benefit and social parties to be held until after the holidays.

Over one hundred persons attended the annual outing for the employees and families of Data Dynamics Sunday at the Via Contenta home of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Doelman. Members of the firm whose offices are located at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center played baseball and enjoyed a sumptuous potluck picnic luncheon.

Military families who live in the Valley during their assignments at various nearby installations always leave a great deal of themselves behind when they are transferred from our community, if only the memory of their friendships. Six Naval officers and their families last Sunday presented a lasting memorial to their Valley home by donating a stained glass window to the Carmel Valley Community Chapel.

Sharing the gift in appreciation to the church were Lt.

Cmdr. and Mrs. Jerry Katzman, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Don Willson, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. William Diehm, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards, Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. James Gleim, and Lt. and Mrs. Phillip Ridgley.

The December meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club will be held on the 7th with Mrs. Thomas McKiernon as hostess. A luncheon will be catered by Chef Whittington.

By popular demand, Mrs. Herbert Swensen of Salinas, who assisted Valley hostesses with many delightful holiday arrangements last year, will return as guest speaker. She will give her latest ideas for Christmas decorations.

Sincere get-well wishes to a hospitalized Valleyite: Jess Taylor, six-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Taylor, who was seriously injured in a fall at Carmel Highlands, and to Mrs. Ed Colvin and Mrs. S.N. Trevino, who are recovering from surgery.

A baby daughter, Anne, arrived Oct. 8 at the Community Hospital and is now at home, 81 Poppy Rd. with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George L. Sackman, and brother, David, 2 1/2.

Mary was chosen for Anne's middle name in memory of her paternal grandmother. Maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Davis have recently returned to their home in Sun City, Ariz., after a meeting with their 7 lb. 8 oz. little granddaughter and a visit with David and his parents.

The Salinas Bridge Club joined the Valley Bridge Club for the Monthly Masterpoint Tournament Tuesday, Nov. 1 at the Community Center.

Col. (ret) A.L. Friedenthal and Graham Matthews took first place awards with Mrs. Mary Drobek and Mrs. Mary Angier in second place. A third place tie resulted between Mrs. Dale Vandervort and Mrs. John Hudeison, and Mrs. Irene Baldwin and Maurice Stoney.

A sign which read "Happy Birthday, Vicki," greeted the guest of honor and her guests when Vicki Van Hagen arrived at the Community Center for the Saturday matinee, "Marco Polo." Mr. and Mrs. Ken Van Hagen had invited a number of their daughter's friends earlier to their home on Paso Hondo for games, birthday cake, and ice cream. Pink balloons covering the chandelier centered the party's pink and white color theme.

Honoring Vicki were Theresa Feeney, Katherine Belleci, Christine Bottaro, Sherri Swiess, Mary Lou Scheid, John Scheid, Laura Sherman, and Vicki's brother, Steve Van Hagen.

Mrs. John Rushmer and Mrs. Bruce Matson have returned from a two day Finance Seminar at the Beverly Wilshire in Beverly Hills where they joined representatives from each Junior League in the region.

Nancy Rushmer, treasurer of the Monterey Peninsula Junior League, and Carol Lee Matson, her assistant, received valuable instruction from consultants flown in from New York. During their brief free time they enjoyed touring the shops and the homes of the Hollywood stars.

The announcement that Mrs. Edward (Lorraine) Luker of La Rancheria had been awarded the distinguished "Woman of the Year" award given annually by the Quota Club of Monterey-Pacific Grove, did not come as a surprise to her many neighbors and friends who felt

First aid calls

The CV Volunteer Fire Dept. was called to the Los Laureles grade-Carmel Valley Rd. intersection Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. where they administered first aid to Mrs. David G. Edwards of Toyon Way and Laurel Dr. Mrs. Edwards received minor injuries in a two-car accident. Occupant of the other auto was not injured.

The ambulance was called out Nov. 5 at 1:17 a.m. when a car went over the bank near the Hideaway Motel. Homer Gruber of Poppy Rd., driver of the vehicle, escaped injury.

Clemente Esrrado, P.O. Box 48, Gonzales, was taken to the Community Hospital Nov. 9 at 9:35 p.m. The first aid squad received the call after the auto driven by Esrrado failed to make the turn 1/2 mile Village side of Wagon Wheel. He received first aid enroute to town for minor lacerations and a scalp wound.

ap Society elects

Thirty-four independent members of the Commodore T. ap Catesby Jones Society named their choices as officers for the 1966-67 term at a meeting held last week.

Their candidates are Barbara J. Burdick, commodore; Allen C. Mitchell, commodore of vice; Paul A. Trujillo, ship's clerk; Walter F. Schubert, purser and J. Barbara (Mrs. William J.) Sewell, historian.

Co-chairman of the Society's seven member nominating committee, Victor S. Velissaratos, hopes that two slates will be put before all members in a ballot to be mailed by the 11th.

Plans call for counting of all votes at the Society's 5:30-7 p.m. cocktail election meeting on Sunday, Nov. 20, at the Warehouse on Cannery Row.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of the Oleander Garden Shop

WINTER CARE

Soon most of the deciduous trees will drop all their leaves; then it is time to think about pruning and dormant spraying. "Sunset" magazine puts out a good, easy-to-understand book about pruning. Dormant spray will kill most of the insects and fungi that are trying to over-winter on your trees.

Gusty winds will be more prevalent in winter, so replace broken stakes, and tie trees securely to them. An old, discarded hose comes in handy for tying. Cut it into pieces; thread wire through, and then tie trees to a stake with it. The hose will prevent the wire from causing damage to the trunk.

NATIVE BEAUTY

Fremontia mexicana is a native evergreen shrub or small tree, ten to twenty feet tall. The leaves are covered with fine hairs. Flowers are of striking yellow to yellow-orange. It is such a beautiful shrub that it can compete with any exotic (or non-native) plant. Thus it was named one of the best ten plants of the U.S.A. It is named in honor of General John C. Fremont, first senator from California. Its native habitat is the dry slopes in the south near San Diego, and down into Baja California. To be successful with fremontia it should be planted in an area of your garden where drainage is perfect. It should receive very little water in summer after the plant becomes established.

By looking at the uninviting, withered forms of the anemones and at the pictures of the dazzling colors of their flowers, one cannot help wonder how such beauty is hidden in such an object. But it is there as sure as the sun is shining on the other side of the earth when it is night here.

WHEN WE THINK of the beauty of trees, we most often have in mind their leafy canopies. But there is another aspect of tree beauty -- that is their beautiful branch and twig pattern when bare. There is something arresting and inspiring in these limbs reaching up to Heaven, as the picture shows.

Dick McKenzie re-elected to head Horsemen's Association for '67; plan Dec. installation dinner

Richard McKenzie was elected to serve a second term as president of the Carmel Valley Horsemen's Association Tuesday night at the business meeting held at the Hidden Hills Ranch. Completing the slate of officers for 1967 are David Mathews, vice president, Ann Agee, secretary, and Vic Silva, treasurer. New members elected to the Board of Directors were John Holmes and Linda Maderak. Serving with them will be hold-overs Roy Forzani and Jeanette Hogan.

Installation of officers will be held at the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 10 at the Rancho Del Monte Resort. Members are requested to make reservations for the buffet dinner for themselves and their guests by Dec. 3. Reservations of $3.50 per person may be mailed to Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKenzie, Lupin Lane, Carmel Valley.

In addition to Santa Claus and a Christmas tree, there will be dancing to the music of the ever popular "Big Jim De Nune" and his western combo from Salinas.

Fisher urges increased interest in highway planning

A plea to help with the fight against the impending freeway down Hatton Canyon was made by Adm. C.W. Fisher (Ret.) in a talk to Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club last week Tuesday.

Adm. Fisher is former president of the Carmel Citizens Committee, which is dedicated to preserving Carmel's natural beauty. He reviewed efforts in recent years to have the State Highway Commission revise plans for the proposed freeway at the top of Carmel Hill.

Last week the Core Committee, which developed the initial Area Master Plan, asked that the Area Plan be amended to stop the freeway plan at the top of Carmel Hill and to alter the proposed freeway down through Hatton Canyon into a low-speed scenic highway.

Adm. Fisher said he received favorable response from the councils of the six Monterey Peninsula cities, before whom he appeared recently, seeking their support.

He told about the fruitless meeting his citizens' committee and Supervisor Tom Hudson had with the new district highway engineer. The state highway department had made only minor adjustments in plans for huge cuts and fills for a Hatton Canyon freeway. The citizens' group reacted by voting to condemn the plans, Fisher said.

He related how the Carmel Citizens Committee had financed for $700 construction of an effective model of the proposed Hatton Canyon freeway. It includes scale models of the San Carlos Hotel set in the canyon, emphasizing the size of proposed cuts and fills which would be higher than the building.

The Highway Commission acknowledged that the model was accurate, Fisher said, when he took it for display to State Highway Commission hearings in Sacramento, San Francisco and San Luis Obispo.

Fisher asked support by all interested local organizations and citizens to write legislators to oppose a Hatton Canyon freeway.

The only way the State Highway Dept. can be stopped, he said, is removal by the Legislature of that section of the proposed road from the state freeway system.

Assemblyman Alan Pattee has promised to introduce legislation to this effect, he said, and Sen. Grunsky has promised support, too.

Dave Butler, secretary of the Monterey County Council for Conservation and Planning (the large property owners' organization) and assistant to its president, Dudley Swim, introduced Adm. Fisher. Larry Cummings introduced Butler.

Butler invited the CV Kiwanis Club to participate in a conservation forum planned by the MCCC at Del Monte Lodge next Feb. 4. The Kiwanis Club is eligible to participate, he said, because of its help in establishing an "outdoor classroom" and the small park beside the bank in CV Village.

The Kiwanis Club netted $65.16 from the recent Fiesta, Sec. George Clifford reported.

Dr. Dean Campbell has joined the Kiwanis bowling team, Vice Pres. Joe Ricupero, who presided, announced. Others on the team include Ricupero, Bob Lambert and Manfred Myers, who has been chosen captain.

Nov. 29 has been set aside by the club as "Pong Chung" day, in honor of the long-time Carmel Kiwanian and past lieutenant governor.

In addition to his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sutton of Mission Fields in Carmel, the small boy was welcomed by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Kathryn Wright of Monterey and his maternal grandfather, Mr. Jack Wright, also of Monterey.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan and sons have moved from their home on Sage-Ford Rd. to a new residence on Flanders Dr. in Carmel. Their many friends are happy to have Shirley and Charles within visiting distance and to know that their new location is so convenient for the activities of their growing family as well as access to Charles' business at Carmel Rancho Shopping Center where he heads Data Dynamics.

If you feel confident that you know your way around Carmel Valley, the following directions to a recent Star Party given by the Monterey Astronomy Club should be a real challenge. It was announced that there would be a penumbral eclipse of the moon so "star gazers" were invited to avoid the "possibility of a coastal haze" and come to Carmel Valley to view Saturn, Jupiter, and Uranus.

"Go to Carmel Valley Village, through the Village, make a right turn on to the road going to Robles del Rio. Park at the side of the road and we'll gather at 11:30 p.m. PDT. For the somewhat more venturesome, to get to the observing point either earlier or later than that, proceed along the Robles del Rio Road, following the signs up the hill to Robles del Rio Lodge.

"Take the first left turn after passing the Lodge parking lot. Follow winding road past one left turn marked "not a through road," and take second turn. Continue quarter mile, past house under construction on your left. At bottom of short hill, road bends left, and my driveway (Jack Brock's) goes almost straight. There will be a candle burning in a paper sack at the foot of the driveway. Park in the driveway or on the road; we'll leave the parking lot free for setting up telescopes. If you need 110 AC, bring a 25 foot extension cord."

What they neglected to add was a canteen, food supplies for two weeks, flares, and don't neglect to leave your name and a copy of your invitation to the Star Party with your next of kin and the Sheriff's Dept. (Suggest you try this only at high noon and please don't call Oaks and Cactus for return trip directions!)

homes in new sections, all with lush gardens. (In this country of cold winters, flowers are loved by everyone. Even in the factories there were vases of flowers on desks.)

In the towns of Volgograd and Volzhki almost all the building was in apartment houses and I saw no sections of private homes such as those we had seen in the northern cities. Here in the steppes, it was a constant struggle to keep vegetation alive. No grass will grow in the chocolate dirt, as they call it. In Volgograd all trees were destroyed during the siege. I feel they will have a problem in a few years, however, because they have replanted with so many trees that there isn't enough room between them. But all of this vegetation must be watered constantly. In Volgograd, though, just as everywhere else in the Soviet Union, flowers hold an esteemed spot and people flock to the outdoor flower markets to buy colorful blooms that are brought in from farms.

Many of the people that we met have dachas, or weekend houses, in the country. This alleviates the cramped apartment house feeling. For the most part these are simple summer cottages on the outskirts of the cities with small garden plots around them. These are not, however, just available for the asking. They are rewards for hard work and position.

Before going to the Soviet Union I had assumed that only persons of high professional status had these dachas. But I was delighted to discover that many people of moderate means and moderate position were also favored with weekend homes.

The Christmas card that's good all year.

Lions hold annual dinner dance

Members of the Carmel Valley Lions Club and their wives gathered Saturday evening at the Community Center for a Fall dinner dance to give the new members of the organization an opportunity to get acquainted. The Lionettes furnished and prepared the hams for the sixty in attendance with delicious potluck dishes prepared by each wife. The party coincided with the birthdays of Mrs. Philip Wright, and Lions Club president Bill Stowers.

Mrs. Lloyd Todd was chairman of the evening, assisted by Mrs. Leroy Dufur. Mrs. Charles Gansel and Mrs. William Hall were in charge of the kitchen with Mrs. Nick Skalyo in charge of libations. Decorating chairman, Mrs. Mark Hattan.

William Hubbard appointed to manage Del Mesa Carmel

Hotel executive William Hubbard has been named general manager of Del Mesa Carmel. The appointment will be effective as of Dec. 1, according to Mike Sullivan, president of Carmel-Hawaii Investors, Inc., developers of the 289 home adult community.

From 1949 until just recently, Hubbard has been the popular manager of Del Monte Lodge in Pebble Beach. Since May he has been resident manager at Jackson Lake Lodge in Grand Teton National Park. His home is in Carmel with his wife, Marian, and daughter, Eleanor. At the "Mesa" condominium, Hubbard will direct the management of all community facilities, employees and the Del Mesa Carmel Adult Community Association.

Community facilities to be handled by Hubbard will include the "Club Mesa," a 15,000 square foot complex which includes a dining room, lounge, men's and women's club rooms, library and guesthouse. Included in this complex is a separate building housing art and craft workshops. In addition there will be an enclosed swimming pool with a motorized roof, lawn bowling and putting greens and shuffleboard courts.

WILLIAM H. HUBBARD, general manager of Del Mesa Carmel adult community.

Education of Handicapped

Dan Yurkovich attends state wide conference

Dan Yurkovich, assistant superintendent of Carmel Unified School District, was one of 50 school leaders to be chosen by the State Dept. of Education to participate in a three-day conference on education of the handicapped, week before last in San Francisco. Expenses of delegates to the conference at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel were paid by the State Dept.

Discussed was a program, chiefly financed by the state, for special education for students who often "drop out" because of emotional or other problems, Yurkovich said.

"The program aims to help students who, although they are intelligent as most, are disinterested in school for a variety of reasons," he explained.

The state finances $910 per student for the program, but this money is not paid to a school district until the completion of the year. Yurkovich pointed out that this would make it extremely difficult for a district with short financing like Carmel to carry such a $30,000 to $40,000 annual program for a year.

"It looks like a case of the rich getting richer and the poor getting poorer," he commented.

He said it was one of the hardest working conferences he has attended, with meetings from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. except for the final day, Friday, when it went straight through without a lunch break to 2 p.m.

He said implementation of the program here would be valuable for some 1% of the local high school students would be eligible.

To qualify for the state financial assistance, each participating student must be approved by a committee including a doctor, psychologist and school administrator.

Yurkovich added that the first year's experience of the few districts participating indicated that the state grant didn't completely finance it. This is because the state limits each class to a maximum of 11 students.
